

No future healthcare without our next-generation professionals! During MedTech Talent Event, students meet forward-thinking MedTech organizations and the other way around. We received more than 100 students from diverse backgrounds during the previous edition. They got the chance to connect with companies like Demcon, Baat Medical, Unitron, Medtronic, Delta Diagnostics and TMSi. On Friday, 9 February 2024, we will organize the second edition of this event. The call for MedTech companies to join us is now open!

Are you looking for interns? Do you have open graduation assignments? Are you searching for young professionals to join your company? MedTech Talent Event is the place to be! Below, you'll find our partnership opportunities.

What can you expect from this event?

- Lunch talk, including a delicious lunch: what's it like to work at a MedTech company in Twente.
- An interactive talent-business fair where startups, spin-offs, SMEs and corporates present themselves.
- Networking opportunities: Meet students from the University of Twente and Saxion University of Applied Sciences. We will contact students in Bachelor and Master programs, for example, Technical Medicine, Biomedical Technology, Health and Technology, Industrial Engineering and Health Sciences.
- We actively promote the event and participating companies via online newsletters, social media, partners' internal communication, etc.
- MedTech Twente will host this event in an inspiring location: Technical Medical Centre at the University of Twente. It will take place on 9 February 2024, from approximately 10:00 to 14:00 hrs.

What do we need from you?

- Set up a furnished exhibition booth to showcase your innovative products, projects, prototypes, and research in various areas of MedTech, such as medical devices, biotechnology, healthcare software, and more.
- Prepare a 5-minute MedTech challenge for students to solve at your booth, which provides an interactive setting.
- At least two enthusiastic colleagues will be there to represent your company, preferably one young professional who studied at Saxion or the University of Twente.
- We charge a partner fee of €500,- (except for those companies that signed a MedTech Twente Week sponsorship agreement in November).

Are you interested in joining this event as a MedTech company?
